

TWENTY-SEVENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

FIRST READING: Genesis 2:18-24

This is a reading from the book of Genesis.

God said,

“It is not good for the man I have created to live alone.
I will make a partner for him,
someone like himself.”

So God made the man go to sleep.
And while he was sleeping,
God took one of his ribs out of his side
and put flesh in its place.

Then God made the rib into a woman and took her to the man. The man said,

“This person is really part of my body.
Because she was taken out of a man,
she will be called woman.”

And that is why men and women leave their mothers and fathers and belong to each other.

The Word of the Lord.

RESPONSE: Psalm 104

I will praise you as long as I live.
As long as I live I will praise you, God.

Verses:

1. I praise you, God for all you do, for all my life for all you do.
2. How many are your works, O God,
in wisdom you have made them all.
3. O God, may all I think please you. I sing and find my joy in you.

(Repeat Response after each Verse.)

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION:

“Let the little children come to me!”
Jesus hugged the children,
and he gave them all his blessing. Alleluia!

GOSPEL: Mark 10:13-16

This is a reading from the Gospel of Mark.

People were bringing their little children to Jesus
so he would touch them.

The disciples scolded the people for bothering him.

But when Jesus saw this,
he became angry and said to the disciples,

“Let the little children come to me,
and don’t try to stop them.

The kingdom of God belongs to people who are like these little children.

I tell you honestly,
unless you become like a little child,
you will not enter the kingdom of God.”

Then Jesus hugged the children and blessed them.
